Severe warning signal for coded vaccine side effects after corona vaccination

Dear Prof. Dr. Cichutek, the Paul Ehrlich Institute has announced in a press release that for the calendar year 2021 244 .576 Suspected cases of vaccine side effects after corona vaccination have been reported.

The data available to our house give us reason to believe that there is a very significant under-reporting of suspected cases of vaccine side effects after corona vaccination out there. For this, I attach an evaluation to my letter.

The data basis for our evaluation is the billing data of Ärzte. Our sample is made from the anonymized database of the company health insurance funds. The sample includes 10,937,716 Insured. We have so far received the accounting data of the Ärzte for the first half of the year 2021 and about half for the third quarter of 2021. Our query includes the valid ICD codes for vaccine side effects. This evaluation has shown, although we have not yet received the complete data for 2021 are available, that based on the available figures, we have already 216,695 treated cases of vaccine side effects after corona vaccination from this Take a random sample. When these figures are based on the full year and on the population in Germany, probably 2.5-3 million people are in Germany i have been under medical treatment for side effects of vaccination after Corona vaccination.

We see this as a significant alarm signal, which is absolutely essential for the further use of the vaccines must be taken into account. The numbers can be relatively easy in our eyes and also can be validated at short notice by changing the other types of cash registers (AOKen, Ersatzkrankenkassen, etc.) to a corresponding evaluation of the data available to you will be requested. Extrapolate with regard to the number of vaccinated people in Germany, this means that about 4-5% of the vaccinated people were under medical treatment for side effects of vaccination.

In our opinion, there is a considerable under-recording of the side effects of vaccination. It is important to identify the causes of this in the short term. Our first guess is, that, since no remuneration is paid for the reporting of vaccine side effects, a notification to the Paul Ehrlich Institute is often omitted because of the great effort. Doctors have us reports that the notification of a suspected vaccine damage case takes about half an hour in claims. This means that 3 million suspected cases of vaccine side effects are about 1.5 million working hours from employees. That would be almost the annual work performance of 1000 doctors. This should also be clarified at short notice. Therefore, a copy of this letter is also sent to the Federal Medical Association and the Kassenärztliche Bundesvereinigung.

The GKV-Spitzenverband will also receive a copy of this letter with the request to obtain appropriate data analyses from all health insurance companies.

Since danger to the lives of people cannot be ruled out, we ask you for a comment on the measures taken by 22.2.2022 18:00.

Best regards

Andreas Schöfbeck
